USSR-CUBA: The Soviet submarine tender that was in Santiago left port on 12 May and is now heading east in the Atlantic. It is being followed by a US destroyer about 250 nautical miles northeast of Grand Caicos Island in the Bahamas. Before moving to Santiago, the tender had gone to Cuba's Nipe Bay on 27 April to support a visit by a G-II ballistic missile submarine from 29 April to 6 May. The only Soviet combat ship still in Cuba is the F-class diesel-powered torpedo attack submarine that has been in Mariel since 24 April.
